

Makar Sankranti Festival – February 12, 2017

Makar Sankranti is a Hindu Festival celebrated in the different names all over the country. It has a great astronomical significance as it marks the beginning of Sun's movement northward for a period of six months (uttarayan). The word sankranti refers to the event of sun entering the zodiac sign of capricorn (Makara rashi). The IUJ has celebrated the "Uttarayan-2017" and was celebrated in the form of "Kite festival". The Kite Festival is one of the most celebrated festivals of Jaipur and the event was organized by the student club Alien on 12th Feb. The students from all the departments participated and as well faculty members also graced the occasions.
