

“Role of NGOs in Women Empowerment: A Case for Legal Intervention”

ICFAI Law School, The ICFAI University Jaipur, has organized on-campus Guest Lecture on the topic of “Role of NGOs in Women Empowerment: A Case for Legal Intervention” on 25th February 2021. Dr. Lad Kumari Jain, Former Professor of Political Science, University of Rajasthan & Former Chairperson of Rajasthan State Women Commission, Jaipur addressed the session.

The speaker discussed the role of National & International Instruments, legislation and the Supreme Court for protection of Women's Rights. The speaker highlighted the difficulties and lacunas in women centric legislations and enforcements of their rights in the court of law. The speaker comprehended the mentality of society towards women, patriarchy and social evils such as female foeticide, child marriages, pay disparity and other discriminatory practices.

She highlighted the contribution of NGOs in uplifting the status of women by sharing her own experience in eliminating Sati Practice, counseling for Gender Sensitization & framing of laws. She concluded the session by appealing to students to be the face of change in empowering women by welcoming girl child, recognizing women's contribution in every field and respecting every woman.

Ms. Yogita Upadhayay, Assistant Professor and Coordinator of the event delivered Vote of Thanks.
