About The Seminar

The Constitution of India, as adopted on 26th November 1949, enforced on January 26, 1950 has opened up new vistas in Indian Socio-Economic, Political and Legal structure of Indian Society. The Constitution of India is the supreme law of the land and the fundamental law which enshrines socio-economic and political ideas with a background of justice, equality, liberty and fraternity. The Constitution of India absorbed many amendments to uphold the individual dignity and unity of the nation which is further strengthened by judicial pronouncements, delivered more particularly by the Apex Court. The frequent interpretation of provisions of various laws within the framework of Constitution has resulted in expanded scope & strengthening constitutionalism. The Judiciary and the socio-political environment of the country contributed for many changes in approaches which further expanded interpretation of existing laws.

For the last few decades, the changes in legal environment have paved vibrations in the minds of the people and created apprehensions. People started perceiving this constitutionalism differently and started debating as such the concept of constitutionalism has started metamorphosing. In the light of this background, the ICFAI Law School, Jaipur propose to revisit evolution of constitutionalism and evaluate it in the light of various challenges. It also expose and explore some myths of constitutionalism by organizing thought provoking seminar with the title 'Transformative Constitutionalism: Apprehensions and Perceptions' to study contemporary issues and challenges covering the emerging developments in constitutional values, constitutional perceptions and in toto the constitutionalism and apprehensions of the citizens.
